
What we do

Written by: Administrator on Tuesday, 04 August 2009 at 22:00:29

At IT School Innovation, we develop and provide integrated, accredited curriculum-based products. Our schools are given full training and on-going support using our just-in-time methodology which has been copied by our competitors. Proving that it works!

We provide a dedicated support person to assist your school and educator to utilise our products to your best advantage.

In addition the educator gets an educator manual for each core module in our I.C.E (International Computing Essentials) our basic computer literacy modules. The manual provides the educator with an introduction as to the files, programs and resources required for the modules, a copy of exercises, screenshots of example outcomes of each exercise, and a set of progress sheets to track the progress of each learner.

Our learners are provided with learner exercises, skills matrixes and reference notes for each module they are required to complete. This allows all learners to work at their own pace.

We supply an online exam system which provides learners with a recognised certification at the end of every year.